Bloodlands

This debate on Timothy Snyder's book Bloodlands (2010) inaugurates a new venture: by bringing scholars together to discuss recent and not so recent books, we aim to contribute to the discussion about ways of writing and thinking about contemporary European history. Here, Mark Mazower (Columbia University), Dan Diner (Hebrew University/Simon-Dubnow-Institute Leipzig), Thomas Kühne (Clark University) and Jörg Baberowski (Humboldt University, Berlin) discuss Timothy Snyder's book Bloodlands. Tim Snyder (Yale University) responds to the comments in a detailed essay.
