Old books offer

Throughout the year, the process of weeding redundant bookstock for disposal has continued. Members visiting the College are welcome to take any of these books and should contact the Library staff. We regret that it is not possible to supply lists of the books.

Additional journals

The Library has recently added several new titles to its list of journal holdings. We would like to thank the Royal Society of Medicine for donating copies of their new Journal of Medical Biography, and Dr Paul Bowden for arranging a subscription to the Journal of Forensic Psychiatry. We are also grateful to Dr Max Fink for supplying volumes 1–3 of Convulsive Therapy, and donating the necessary funds for binding our complete collection of this title. Two further journals, Behavioral and Brain Sciences and Psychiatric Clinics of North America, are now being supplied to the Library in exchange for subscriptions to the British Journal of Psychiatry. A complete list of the Library's journal holdings is available on request.

Hospital closures

With the assistance of Dr Neil Boast, the Library's project to photograph old asylum buildings continues. However, we are concerned that hospitals are closing unbeknown to us and are appealing to members to notify the Library of any planned closures in their area. This will assist us in ensuring that photographic record of these impressive old buildings is retained.
