

---

Editorial

- 409 National alcohol policy in Scotland
E. B. Ritson

---

Opinion & debate

- 412 The limits of responsibility. Never mind stigma – it is unlimited liability that is harming the profession
M. Bristow
- 414 Commentary: the limits of responsibility
M. Howlett
- 416 Twenty-four hour crisis assessment and treatment teams: too radical for the UK?
D. Protheroe and A. Carroll

---

Original papers

- 418 Structured psychiatric assessment schedules – treating the case notes and the patient
D. Lyons, M. Amos and V. M. Mathew
- 421 HoNOS–ABI; a clinically useful outcome measure?
R. Coetzer and P. L. Du Toit
- 423 Reconciling the information needs of clinicians, managers and commissioners – a pilot project
M. Broadbent
- 425 Cognitive–behavioural therapy: a survey of the training, practice and views of Scottish consultant psychiatrists
P. D. Le Fevre and R. Goldbeck
- 429 The public's knowledge of psychiatrists: questionnaire survey
A. Williams, A. Cheyne and S. MacDonald
- 432 The forgotten children: children admitted to a county asylum between 1854 and 1900
K. Gingell

---

Special articles

- 435 Grand rounds: 'I'll knock elsewhere' – the impact of past trauma in later life
Y. L. Ong and P. Carter

- 437 Commentary: suicide prevention and the right to die
C. Henderson
- 438 Commentary: the impact of past trauma in later life
D. Summerfield
- 439 Service innovations: an Australian approach to community care – the Northern Crisis Assessment and Treatment Team
A. Carroll, J. Pickworth and D. Protheroe
- 441 Consultant advisers in every service. Summary report from the working group on the role of consultants in implementing the National Service Framework and NHS Plan
L. Appleby
- 444 Changing Minds: Every Family in the Land. A campaign update
A. Crisp
- 446 Making work schemes work
B. Grove

---

Education and training

- 449 Additional clinical experience (ACE) modules in psychiatric specialities for general practice registrars
A. F. Tarbuck, D. Rumball and S. M. Jones

---

Columns

- 452 Correspondence
- 452 Obituaries
- 453 Corrigenda
- 454 Reviews
- 455 Miscellany
- 456 Forthcoming events