
CONTENTS

Introduction Patrick Rysiew	1
Perception
Reidian Dual Component Theory defended Todd Buras	4
Reid's response to Hume's perceptual relativity argument Lorne Falkenstein	25
The extension of color sensations: Reid, Stewart, and Fearn Giovanni B. Grandi	50
Moral Theory
Reid on the moral sense Rebecca Copenhaver	80
Reid on the first principles of morals Terence Cuneo	102
Reid's moral psychology: animal motives as guides to virtue Esther Kroeker	122
Epistemology
Common sense in Thomas Reid John Greco	142
Thomas Reid on truth, evidence and first principles Keith Lehrer	156
Reid's First Principle #7 Patrick Rysiew	167
Reason and trust in Reid Nicholas Wolterstorff	183
Mind, Language, Metaphysics
Reid on powers of the mind and the person behind the curtain Laurent Jaffro	197
Reid on the priority of natural language John Turri	214
Disagreement, design, and Thomas Reid René van Woudenberg	224