Abstract

MSCS is moving to continuous publishing.

We inform the readership of MSCS that the journal will move to continuous publishing in January 2025. The current issue 8 of Volume 34 contains regular submissions as well as a paper that was accepted for the special issue on Differential Structures in Computer Science and Mathematics (Automatic differentiation for ML-family languages: Correctness via logical relations, by Fernando Lucatelli Nunes and Matthijs Vákár). The latter paper will be linked to a collection devoted to this special issue as soon as all remaining accepted papers will have been produced.
