

Announcements

International Kelly Prize in French Political Thought

The Conference for the Study of Political Thought (CSPT) announces the fourth annual George Armstrong Kelly Prize. After three years of honoring articles on German political thought, the prize has been changed to honor French-language political thought for a three-year cycle. This is intended to reflect George Kelly's interest in these fields.

The prize will be awarded for the best journal article, or paper of similar length and scope, published in 1993 on the history of 18th and/or 19th century French-language political thought (including political theory, philosophy, etc.). This is an international prize: entries will be accepted from any country, although the articles must be in French, German, English, or Spanish.

Individual authors are encouraged to submit their own work for consideration for the prize. Others are invited to nominate possible candidates for the prize.

The deadline for submissions of 1993 articles for the prize is November 30, 1994. Four copies of articles in English, French, or Spanish should be sent to Prof. John Christian Laursen, Department of Political Science, University of California, Riverside, CA, 92507-0118, U.S.A. Four copies of articles in German should be sent to Prof. Martyn P. Thompson, Department of Political Science, Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana, 70118-5698, U.S.A.. Winner of the prize, which includes a cash grant, will be announced at the 1995 annual meeting of the CSPT.

Continuum Book Award

A new $10,000 book award will recognize the best work received in Continuum's principal publishing areas: religious studies, literature and the arts, psychology and social thought, and women's studies. Manuscripts that are interdisciplinary in nature and that offer innovative and theoretical perspectives of wide-ranging cultural importance are the primary focus of the award. Continuum will consider manuscripts for the award twice yearly: deadlines for receipt of completed manuscripts are February 1 and September 1; awards (if granted) will be announced May 1 and December 1. Monies awarded represent an advance against royalties, and will be granted as often as a book is found to merit the award, but no more than once a year. Manuscripts should be sent to "Continuum Book Award" at 370 Lexington Avenue, New York, NY 10017. Continuum catalog available upon request.

Peace & Democracy News Essay Contest

The editors of Peace & Democracy News and the Campaign for Peace and Democracy are pleased to announce an essay contest for applicants aged 25 or younger. We invite essays of 1500 to 3500 words in length on the following topic:

A Progressive U.S. Foreign Policy in the Post-Cold War Era. Following the collapse of the Soviet Union and the end of the superpower rivalry, Americans have been groping for a framework for our country's foreign policy. What would a progressive foreign policy—one that promotes democracy, peace, environmental progress, economic well-being and an end to racism—look like? How does current U.S. foreign policy compare to the progressive policy you describe? What role, if any, would military intervention play in such a policy? What role does intervention play now? (Applicants may choose to emphasize just one of these issues in their essays, or may address several or all of them.)

This competition is open to applicants aged 25 or younger. Papers written for academic classes may be submitted, provided that they are aimed at a general audience. Submissions can take the form of general essays, book reviews, and studies of specific cases.

The best essay (as determined by a panel of judges assembled by the Campaign for Peace and Democracy) will be published in a future issue of Peace & Democracy News. In addition, the top winner will be awarded a cash prize of $125 and a free subscription to PDN. The two runners-up will each be given $50, a free subscription to PDN, and a copy of Why Bosnia? Writings on the Balkan War, edited by Rabia Ali and Lawrence Lifschultz (Pamphleteer's Press).

Completed essays should be sent to Peace & Democracy News, P.O. Box 1640, Cathedral Station, New York, N.Y. 10025 by November 15, 1994. Telephone inquiries (212) 666-5924. Fax (212) 662-5892. All submissions will be acknowledged, but cannot be returned.

Political Research Quarterly Editor Sought

The 5-year term of Walt Stone, the current editor of the Political Research Quarterly, will expire on June 1, 1996 and he does not wish to serve a second term. Accordingly, nominations for the editorship for the term beginning June 1, 1996 and extending to May 31, 2001 are now being sought. Tom Cronin, president of the Western Political Science Association, has appointed a search committee consisting of Barbara Sinclair, University of California, Riverside, chair; Walt Stone, University of Colorado; Dean Mann, University of California, Santa Barbara; Don Hanson, University of Utah; Rod Kiewiet, California Institute of Technology; and Elizabeth Moulds, California State University, Sacramento (ex officio). Nominations and/or requests for more information should be submitted to Barbara Sinclair, Department of Political Science, University of California, Riverside, California, 92521 (phone (909) 787-3833; fax (909) 787-3933). Upon request, information will be supplied regarding levels of support appropriate to the position. Nominations must be accompanied by a curriculum vitae and by a letter from the appropriate administrative office of the nominee's university, at the level of Dean or above, certifying that institution's willingness to commit appropriate released time and financial support.

For full consideration, please submit nominations by July 1, 1994 when the committee will begin its review. It is anticipated that the final decision will be made at the Western Political Science Association's meeting in March 1995.

ARP Editor Announced

The American Review of Politics, formerly the Midsouth Political Science Journal, is proud to announce that Charles D. Hadley of the University of New Orleans has accepted an invitation to serve as editor. He has assumed primary responsibility for the journal's manuscript review process as of February 1, 1994, and will be responsible for issue content beginning with the first issue of volume 16 (Spring 1995). Until January 1, 1995, Gary D. Wekkin of the University of Central Arkansas and Michael A. Maggiotto of Bowling Green State University will remain on the editorial staff with responsibility for the issue content and production of volume 15 (1994), and for business matters.

The American Review of Politics also is accepting applications between now and August 1, 1994, for another editorship to begin on January 1, 1995. The individual(s) chosen will work closely with Hadley and with book review editor Conrad Waligorski (University of Arkansas), with shared responsibility for the manuscript review process and issue content. The current editors and board of the journal hope to discuss the editorial search at the American Political Science Association meeting in September. Interested parties should send resumes, a letter of interest, and a summary of support available from the administration of their universities to: Harold F. Bass, Jr., ARP Editorial Search Committee, Dept. of Political Science, Ouachita Baptist University, Arkadelphia, AR 71998-0001.

Although the American Review of Politics is a quarterly journal of general political science research and theory, it also fills a niche as a journal that serves those especially interested in party and group politics. It enjoys a contractual relationship with the American Political Science Association's Organized Section on Political Organizations and Parties (APSA POP), with whom it publishes an annual symposium issue devoted to some aspect of party or group politics. Submissions may be addressed to Charles D. Hadley, Editor/American Review of Politics/Dept. of Political Science/University of New Orleans/Lakefront New Orleans, LA 70148.

New PSO Officers Announced

The Policy Studies Organization announced its 1994 officers and new council members at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, DC, September 3, 1993. Matthew Holden, University of Virginia, has assumed the presidency, while Walter Beach of Heldref Publications holds the title of Vice-President and President-elect. Stuart Nagel, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, remains Secretary-Treasurer. Newly elected council members include: William Crotty, Northwestern University; Thomas R. Dye, Florida State University; and Louise White, George Mason University. The remainder of the Council includes: Josephine LaPlante, Southern Maine University; David Pfeiffer, Suffolk University; Richard Siegal, University of Nevada-Reno; and Thomas Vocino, University of Auburn-Montgomery.

Holocaust Research Institute Opens

The United States Holocaust Research Institute, the scholarly division of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, opened in December 1993 and serves as an international resource for the development of research on the Holocaust and related issues. Consisting of seven departments, including Academic Programs, Photo Archive, the Library, and the Benjamin and Vladka Meed Registry of Jewish Holocaust Survivors, the Institute openly welcomes a variety of approaches by scholars of all fields and disciplines. For more information contact: The U.S. Holocaust Research Institute, 100 Raoul Wallenberg Place, SW, Washington, DC 20024-2150. Telephone: (202) 488-6115. Reading rooms for the Library and archival collections are open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Internships and Experiential Learning Section

Are you interested in strengthening the connection between classroom learning and the internship and/or experiential learning experience?

Are you interested in learning more about all the grants available that provide funding for you to develop internship and experiential learning programs for your department or monies for your students to take advantage of the established international or off-campus internships and experiential learning programs?

If you answer yes to either of these questions then the APSA organized section on Internships and Experiential Learning is for you.

For more information contact: Sally Mitchell Edwards, Department of Political Science, Ford Hall, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292. Phone: (502) 852-3313; e-mail: smedwa02@ulkyvx.louisville.edu

To join: send $5.00 to either APSA or Don Racheter, Department of Political Science, Central University of Iowa, Pella, IA 50219.

New Chinese Studies Journal

The Center for Materials of Chinese Studies, established in South Korea, is launching a new index series with the title Index to Contents of Chinese Academic Journals. The quarterly journal seeks to provide up-to-date information on research materials to advanced scholars in various fields of Chinese studies. Each issue of the Index will present contents of more than 200 recent Chinese journals of humanities and social sciences in the original language plus author-keyword index to contents. Subscriptions are invited from April 1994 at the annual rate of US$100 for institutional subscribers, plus US$20 for air mail delivery. For more information or to order, contact: Center for Materials of Chinese Studies, Kwanak P.O. Box 167, Seoul 151-600, Korea.

GRE Change

In November 1993, the computer-delivered version of the traditional GRE General Test changed to an adaptive test, now as a Computer Adaptive Test (CAT). The test is administered by computer and is adaptive in the sense that each question is selected from a pool of questions based on the examinee's answers to earlier questions. While a paper-and-pencil version of the General Test continues to be available, the GRE Program plans to replace it with a fully computerized modular GRE General Test by the middle of 1997. The cost of the test is $93. Examinees may call a test center directly or 1-800-967-1100 to schedule an appointment. To receive further information on CAT contact the Educational Testing Service at (609) 771-7670.