

Planting a Capitalist South

Masters, Merchants, and Manufacturers in the Southern Interior, 1790–1860

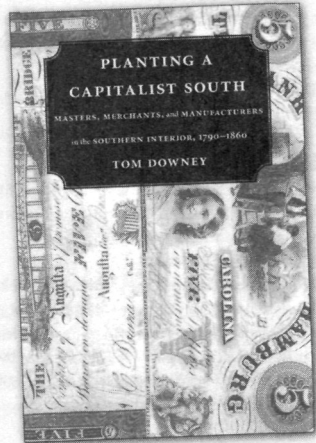

TOM DOWNEY

Focusing on the central Savannah River Valley of western South Carolina, Downey effectively challenges the idea that commercial and industrial interests did little to alter the planter-dominated political economy of the Old South.

“Exploring the ways merchants, railroads, and industry made a market revolution . . . Downey shows how ‘the embrace of capital’ transformed slaveholding society.”

—Orville Vernon Burton, author of In My Father's House Are Many Mansions: Family and Community in Edgefield, South Carolina

$49.95

Black Americans and Organized Labor

A New History

PAUL D. MORENO

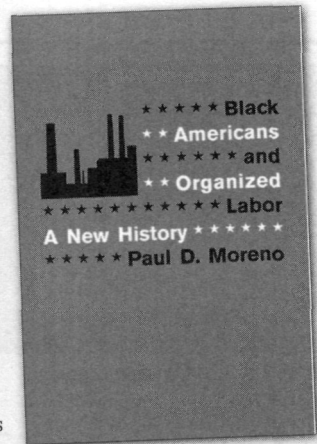

Moreno formulates the compelling theorem that white unionists used race as a convenient basis on which to control the labor supply. He argues that the “the economics of discrimination,” and not simply racism, explains historic black absence in unions.

“This is a refreshing departure in the study of labor and race.”—Henry McKiven, author of Iron and Steel: Class, Race, and Community in Birmingham, Alabama, 1875–1920

“By utilizing the latest scholarship, by mining several large archival collections, and by integrating economic and business theories into the narrative, Moreno breathes new life into decades-old historiographical debates.”

—Andrew Kersten, author of Race, Jobs, and the War: The FEPC in the Midwest, 1941–1946

$49.95

LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY PRESS

(800) 861-3477

Visit www.lsu.edu/lisupress to learn more about these and other great books!

New from OXFORD

THE DIGITAL HAND

How Computers Changed the Work of American Manufacturing, Transportation, and Retail Industries
James W. Cortada

In this book, Cortada combines detailed analysis with narrative history to provide a broad overview of computing's role in sixteen industries, accounting for nearly half of the U.S. economy.

2003 512 pp.
0-19-516588-8 $24.95

THE DIGITAL HAND

Volume 2: How Computers Changed the Work of American Financial, Telecommunications, Media, and Entertainment Industries

James W. Cortada

The Digital Hand, Volume 2, is a historical survey of how computers and telecommunications have been deployed in over a dozen industries in the financial, telecommunications, media and entertainment sectors over the past half century. It is part of a sweeping three-volume description of how management in some forty industries embraced the computer and changed the American economy.

2005 656 pp.
0-19-516587-X $59.50

STATE BANKING IN EARLY AMERICA

A New Economic History
Howard Bodenhorn

This book is the first full length work in forty years on the history of early American banking. It reveals new interpretations of early banking practices and why there was a need to change and progress with the times.

2002 368 pp.
0-19-514776-6 $29.50

A NATION TRANSFORMED BY INFORMATION

How Information Has Shaped the United States from Colonial Times to the Present

Edited by Alfred D. Chandler, Jr. and James W. Cortada

This book makes the startling case that North Americans were getting on the "information highway" as early as the 1700's, and have been using it as a critical building block of their social, economic, and political world ever since.

2000 (paper 2003) 404 pp.
0-19-512814-1 paper $29.50
0-19-512701-3 cloth $44.50

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

www.oup.com/us

Reprogramming Japan The High Tech Crisis under Communitarian Capitalism

Marie Anichordoguy

Cornell Studies in Political Economy

"The central concept of communitarian capitalism, with its emphasis on risk avoidance and circumscribed competition, strikes me as a useful corrective to excessively functionalist versions of the 'capitalist developmental state' argument."

—Gregory W. Noble, University of Tokyo
$39.95 cloth

Notes from Toyota-land An American Engineer in Japan

Darius Mehri

An ILR Press Book

"Mehri offers something quite unique: an engineer's inside view of the Toyota Production System, based on an extended work experience in the engineering office of the company's homeland keiretsu."

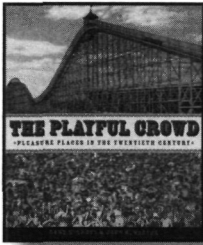

—Steve Babson, Wayne State University
$26.00 cloth

Cornell
University Press

1-800-666-2211 | www.cornellpress.cornell.edu

C O L U M B I A , Refer to us

columbia.edu/cu/cup

The Playful Crowd

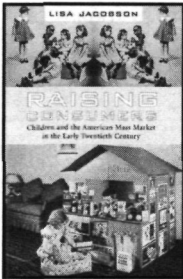

Pleasure Places in the Twentieth Century

Gary Cross & John K. Walton

“A lively, intelligent, and pleasurable read!”

— Ellen Furlough, University of Kentucky

cloth - $32.50

Raising Consumers

Children and the American Mass Market in the Early Twentieth Century

Lisa Jacobson

“A fine blend of primary research and sophisticated historical analysis.”

— Gary Cross, author of An All-Consuming Century

paper - $24.00

New from The MIT Press

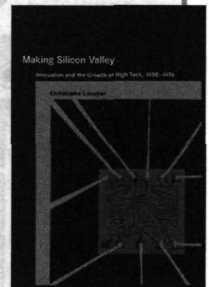

Making Silicon Valley

Innovation and the Growth of High Tech, 1930-1970

Christophe Lécuyer

“The most scrupulous scholarly exploration so far of the cluster of innovative firms that has come to be called Silicon Valley. It is a book that should be read by anyone curious about the emergence of the high-tech electronics firms that have created this remarkable concentration of innovative talent.” — Nathan Rosenberg, Stanford University

Inside Technology series • 424 pp., 32 illus. $40

Global Migration and the World Economy

Two Centuries of Policy and Performance

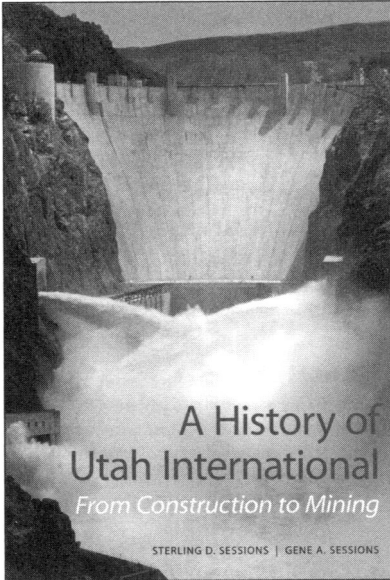

Timothy J. Hatton and Jeffrey G. Williamson

“In Global Migration and the World Economy Hatton and Williamson again combine their impressive skills as both historians and economists. In this masterful and well written analysis of international migration over the past two centuries, they use these skills to synthesize broad sweep and technical detail. It will provide the framework for understanding international migration for decades to come.” — Barry R. Chiswick, University of Illinois at Chicago

448 pp., 52 illus. $50

To order call 800-405-1619.

<http://mitpress.mit.edu>

A History of Utah International

From Construction to Mining
Sterling D. Sessions and Gene A. Sessions

The story of how the Utah Construction Company, founded in Ogden, Utah, in 1900, became Utah International, a multinational corporation, is known to historians of the American West but perhaps not by the general public. Publication of this book remedies that lack.

During its first decades, the company built railroads and dams and was one of the Six Companies Consortium that built Hoover Dam. Utah Construction also engaged in numerous warcontract activities during World War II; in the postwar period, the company expanded its activities into mining and land development and moved its headquarters to San Francisco.

Based on the Utah International archives the story describes more than projects: it is also the story of how two remarkable entrepreneurs, Marriner Stoddard Eccles and Edmund Wattis Littlefield, transformed the company incorporated in 1900 by the Wattis brothers into the largest and most profitable mining company in the United States.

“With a history beginning with railroad construction and spanning over a century, Utah International ventured into varied major construction projects before switching to large-scale mining. The authors have woven a fascinating story of this remarkable enterprise.”

—David F. Myrick, author of Railroads of Nevada and Eastern California and Railroads of Arizona

36 illustrations
Cloth $29.95

The University of Utah Press

(800) 621-2736

Order online from www.UofUPress.com

Northern Illinois
University Press

DeKalb 60115 815-753-1826

www.niupress.niu.edu

The Irony of STATE INTERVENTION

American Industrial Relations Policy in Comparative Perspective, 1914–1939

Larry G. Gerber

“Fascinating ... this book makes an important and unduplicated contribution to the historical literature on U.S. industrial relations.”—Joseph A. McCartin, Georgetown University

- Despite the nations’ shared belief in limited government, in Britain—where most businesses remained comparatively small—collective bargaining became the norm, while in the United States—thanks to the rise of large-scale corporations—both management and labor called for state intervention. Ironically, as Gerber demonstrates, ideology was compromised by the structure of business, the market system, and the configuration of unions.

220 pp. 0-87580-347-4 $40.00 cloth on the web:

californiajournals.com/ah available online at:

caliber.ucpress.net

agricultural history

The official journal of the Agricultural History Society, Agricultural History explores developments and rural life over time, in all geographies, and among all peoples. Agricultural History publishes a range of articles on institutions, organizations, methodologies, and sciences—all of which have been contributing factors in change and growth.

university of California press

BUSINESS HISTORY REVIEW

NOW IN ITS SEVENTY-NINTH YEAR

The Business History Review, published quarterly, features articles and book reviews by leading historians, economists, sociologists, and scholars of business administration.

Special issues have included "Computers and Communications Networks," "Business and the Environment," and a special forum entitled "Reputation and Uncertainty in Early America."

RECENT ARTICLES:

Alex Nalbach

"Poisoned at the Source"? Telegraphic News Services and Big Business in the Nineteenth Century

Dimitry Anastakis

From Independence to Integration: The Corporate Evolution of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, 1904–2004

Mark Aldrich

Regulating Transportation of Hazardous Substances: Railroads and Reform, 1883–1930

Michael B. Miller

The Business Trip: Maritime Networks in the Twentieth Century

Visit our Web site for subscription information:

www.hbs.edu/bhr

Editorial: 617.495.1003 Subscriptions: 617.495.6179 Fax: 617.495.0594 bhr@hbs.edu

The Journal of Southern History

John B. Boles, Managing Editor

Published quarterly by the Southern Historical Association

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

Detach and mail with remittance to:

John C. Inscoe, Secretary-Treasurer
The Southern Historical Association
Department of History, University of Georgia
Athens, Georgia 30602-0601

MEMBERSHIP CLASSES

- | | |
|---|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Sustaining | $ 40.00 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Annual | $ 30.00 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Family | $ 40.00 (two annual meeting programs) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Five-years | $125.00 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Enrolled Student | $ 10.00 (send certification - 6 year limit) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Life Membership | $600.00 (payable in quarterly payments within 1 year) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Retired | $15.00 (member for 15 or more years) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Library | $50.00 |

NOTICE: By action of the Executive Council, all memberships are on a calendar-year basis. Add $6.00 per year for foreign postage.

I enclose $_____ to pay for my dues in the Southern Historical Association.

Name _____

Address _____

Applications for student membership must be accompanied by this certificate signed by a faculty representative of the institution in which the applicant is currently enrolled.

I hereby certify that the person whose name appears on this application is currently enrolled as a student in _____.

Signed _____

Position _____

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

GENERAL INFORMATION

Manuscripts are considered for publication on the understanding that they are not concurrently under consideration elsewhere and that the material—in substance as well as form—has not been previously published.

Three copies of the manuscript should be submitted.

Authors should identify themselves only on a separate title page that provides name, mailing address, and telephone number. Authors must also remember not to identify themselves in the body of the manuscript; specifically, references to their own work in the text should be in the third person, and citations should be written without possessive pronouns—not “See my”

Potential contributors should initially submit hard copy, not diskettes, but it will save considerable work for all parties in the event of acceptance if authors follow a few rules from the beginning:

- In general, use as few formatting commands as possible.
- Left justify text.
- Do not hyphenate words at the end of lines.
- ALL material—including extracted quotations and notes—must be double spaced.
- Notes should be numbered consecutively and citations should be placed as footnotes or endnotes formatted as indicated by The Chicago Manual of Style (1993).
- Each table and figure must be accompanied by a complete source.

Each article should be accompanied by an abstract of 75 to 100 words outlining the main point(s) of the paper and placing the article in context. Subheads should be used to divide the manuscript into three or four sections (or more, depending on length). We do not have an upper or lower page limit, but articles usually run between 25 and 50 typescript pages, including notes and other material.

We are always eager to publish illustrations, but authors should not include originals of illustrative materials at the time of submission; photocopies of such material may be included. Authors are responsible for obtaining all illustrative materials and permissions for reproduction, and for writing captions.

Authors of accepted manuscripts will receive two copies of the issue in which the article appears and twenty-five offprints.

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

We use the 15th edition of The Chicago Manual of Style (2003) and spell and hyphenate words according to the 11th edition of Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary.

The journal encourages authors to use gender-neutral prose in all cases where it is not anachronistic to do so; male nouns and pronouns should not be used to refer to people of both sexes. We use the day-month-year form for dates, as in 11 Feb. 1998, in the notes, but in the text, dates are written month-day-year, as in February 11, 1998. Double quotation marks should be used for direct quotation; single quotation marks are used for quoted material inside quotations.

SAMPLE CITATION FORMS

Book: Alfred D. Chandler Jr., The Visible Hand: The Managerial Revolution in American Business (Cambridge, Mass., 1977), 321–2.

Journal: Charles Cheape, “Not Politicians but Sound Businessmen: Norton Company and the Third Reich,” Business History Review 62 (Autumn 1988): 444–66.

Note that we do not include the publisher in book citations. We do not use loc. cit., op. cit., or idem., but ibid. (not italicized) may be used.

0007-6805(200523)79:3;1-B