Japan's Strategic Economy

Thomas M. Huber

"Huber's insight into the military quality and the strategic orientation of the Japanese economy makes this one of the few truly seminal works in Japanese studies. Whereas many other books ostentatiously proclaim their 'theoretical sophistication,' this one actually delivers new and utterly persuasive ways of thinking about Japan and its emulators in East Asia. Japan's Strategic Economy is a breakthrough book, one that leaves in its wake the arid treatises of neo-classical economics and parochial political science."

Technological Independence

The Asian Experience

Edited by Saneh Chamarik and Susantha Goonatilake

Focusing on the importance of technology as a key to development, this volume examines the experiences, efforts, and perspectives of technological development in six Asian countries: China, India, Japan, Korea, the Philippines, and Thailand. It describes the background of each country's technological development, development experiences, and planning and policies for self-reliance. The technologies selected for research vary according to country, reflecting different technological development stages and their importance to national efforts and goals.

The State and Cultural Transformation

Perspectives from East Asia

Edited by Hirofumi Yamamoto

The subject of this study is the process and effects of modernization in China, Japan, the Republic of Korea, and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. In particular the emphasis is on the transformation of cultures as a part and result of efforts to modernize and on the role played by the state. The cultural transformations that are described range from everyday customs and habits to the arts, from the level of the individual to large-scale social and economic planning. The book is also of special interest in gathering together Korean scholars from both the North and South for the first time since 1950.

ON FAMILIAR TERMS
A Journey Across Cultures
Donald Keene

"For more than 40 years (Donald Keene's) translations and essays on the art and literature of Japan have guided and enlightened us....I never thought that an intellectual journey across two cultures and several continents could be so rewarding."

Octavio Paz

Donald Keene—translator, critic, cultural commentator, professor emeritus at Columbia University and author of dozens of books in both English and Japanese—is America's foremost literary and cultural critic of Japan. On Familiar Terms, the story of his remarkable life—from a Depression-era childhood through his wartime experiences as a naval intelligence officer in the Pacific, his early enchantment with the now-vanished world of old Kyoto, and the diverse and lasting friendships he made in New York, Japan and England—is an inspiring portrait of intellectual, spiritual and personal growth. Keene recalls fascinating relationships with, and illuminating anecdotes about, writers such as Yukio Mishima, Yasunari Kawabata, Kenzaburo Oe, and Kobo Abe. On Familiar Terms is a story of universal interest and a compelling narrative of self-discovery among the shifting cultural boundaries of our time.

CHINESE MYTHOLOGY

AN INTRODUCTION

Anne M. Birrell

In this unprecedented guide to the study of Chinese myth, Anne Birrell provides English translations of 300 representative myth narratives selected from over 100 classical texts, many of which have never before been translated into any Western language. "Birrell has singlehandedly saved the scholarly world at least a decade in its attempts to come to grips with this fragmented, refractory body of narratives. This marvelous work of humanistic scholarship constitutes a giant step forward in the systematic study of Chinese mythology."—Victor H. Mair, University of Pennsylvania

THE CUBA COMMISSION REPORT

A HIDDEN HISTORY OF THE CHINESE IN CUBA

THE ORIGINAL ENGLISH-LANGUAGE TEXT OF 1876

Introduction by Denise Helly

In 1873, prompted by reports of abuse of indentured laborers in the Spanish colony of Cuba, the government of China sent an Imperial Mission to investigate the living and working conditions of Chinese laborers on the island's sugar plantations. The result was The Cuba Commission Report, a gruesome record of the experience of Chinese workers in Cuba, corroborated by hundreds of depositions taken from the laborers themselves.

The Political Logic of Economic Reform in China

Susan L. Shirk

In the past decade, China was able to carry out economic reform without political reform, while the Soviet Union attempted the opposite strategy. Shirk shows that China's success was due to their communist political institutions being more flexible and less centralized than their Soviet counterparts were.

Shen Pao-chen and China's Modernization in the Nineteenth Century

David Pong

Abandoning the comfort of his successful career, Shen devoted his life to building China's first modern naval dockyard and academy. His successes and failures shed new light on the story of China's efforts at modernization—a story that has not come to a conclusion. As China engages in new rounds of economic and industrial modernization in the post-Mao era, many of these issues acquire new meanings and significance.

PURPOSE AND ORGANIZATION

The Association for Asian Studies is a scholarly, non-political, and non-profit professional association open to all persons interested in Asia and the study of Asia. It seeks through publications, meetings, and seminars to facilitate contact and exchange of information among scholars and to increase understanding of Asia. The Association for Asian Studies is the largest society of its kind in the world. Its 7,000 members include scholars, teachers, business people, diplomats, journalists, and interested laypersons.

Founded in 1941 as the Far Eastern Association, the organization was renamed the Association for Asian Studies in 1957 to reflect the wider geographic interests of its membership. In 1970, four elective area Councils—South Asia, Southeast Asia, China and Inner Asia, and Northeast Asia—were established to guarantee each area constituency its own representation and a proportionate voice on the Board of Directors. In 1977, a Council of Conferences was established as a liaison with eight regional conferences throughout the United States to serve the needs of those interested in Asian studies in different parts of the country. The Association is a member of the American Council of Learned Societies and the National Council of Area Studies Associations, actively participating with its sister societies in a wide range of activities, including joint participation in research and informational exchanges.

Publications of the Association include The Journal of Asian Studies, The Journal of Asian Business, the Bibliography of Asian Studies, Doctoral Dissertations on Asia, the Asian Studies Newsletter, the Monograph Series, and committee publications. The Association holds a three-day meeting each spring devoted to planned programs of scholarly papers, round table discussions and panel sessions on a wide range of problems in research and teaching, and on Asian affairs in general. From time to time, it sponsors, through its committees, special conferences on research problems and other matters of topical interest.

THE PLUM IN THE GOLDEN VASE

OR, CHIN P'ING MEI

Volume One: The Gathering

Translated by DAVID TOD ROY

This first of five planned volumes begins David Roy's long-awaited complete and annotated translation of this renowned sixteenth-century Chinese novel. Known primarily for its erotic realism, the Chin P'ing Mei is also a landmark in the development of narrative art. Roy's faithful and lively translation is the first to do full justice to this rich and complex work of literature.

"... essential in any collection of world literature. ... indispensable for the scholar of Chinese literature."—Library Journal

"This is the first complete English translation of one of the monuments of world literature and will immediately supersede all existing partial and abridged translations. ..."—Andrew Plaks, author of Four Masterworks of the Ming Novel

IN THE REALM OF THE DIAMOND QUEEN

Marginality in an
Out-of-the-Way Place

ANNA LOWENHAUPT
TSING

In this highly original and much-anticipated ethnography, Anna Tsing challenges not only anthropologists and feminists but all those who study culture to reconsider some of their dearest assumptions. By choosing to locate her study among Meratus Dayaks, a marginal and marginalized group in the deep rainforest of South Kalimantan, Indonesia, Tsing deliberately sets into motion the familiar urban fantasies of self and other. Unusual encounters with her Meratus friends and teachers, however, provide the opportunity to rethink notions of tradition, community, culture—and the doing of anthropology.

SOLO IN THE NEW ORDER

Language and Hierarchy
in an Indonesian City

JAMES T. SIEGEL

In this ethnography of contemporary Java, James Siegel analyzes how language operates to organize and to order an Indonesian people.

"... novel, subtle, and above all, challenging explorations of new and old issues. ... it will stand as a suggestive example of how ethnography of complex modernizing situations can be imbued with a postmodernist sense of language."
