

Notebook

Royal Institute of Philosophy Annual Lecture Series, 1999–2000

Philosophy at the New Millennium

1999

- |             |   |
|-------------|---|
| 8 October   | Ted HonderichIntentionality's Future                                   |
| 15 October  | Daniel DennettPhilosophy of Mind                                       |
| 22 October  | Hugh MellorThe Time of Our Lives                                       |
| 29 October  | Bernard WilliamsMoral Philosophy                                       |
| 5 November  | Anthony QuintonThe Theory of Knowledge: its Rise, Fall and Rise        |
| 12 November | Michael RedheadThe Intelligibility of the Universe                     |
| 19 November | Rom HarréHaving the Power to Act: Material and Psychological Causality |
| 26 November | Mary WarnockThe Foundations of Morality                                |

2000

- |             |   |
|-------------|---|
| 14 January  | Ruth Garrett MillikanCutting Philosophy of Language Down to Size         |
| 21 January  | David CooperEnvironment &amp; Technology                                 |
| 28 January  | Stewart SutherlandHuman Nature and Human Flourishing                     |
| 4 February  | John HaldaneHas Philosophy Made a Difference, and Can it be Expected to? |
| 11 February | Anthony O'HearProspects for Beauty                                       |
| 18 February | John SkorupskiOutlook for Ethics   |
| 25 February | Margaret BodenCognitive Science  |
| 4 March     | Jerry Fodortba   |

*All Lectures to be given at 14 Gordon Square, London WC1 at 5.45 pm.
Admission is free*

Notebook

Forum for European Philosophy

The Forum for European Philosophy was set up in 1996 as a networking body, the aim of which is to promote dialogue between philosophers in Britain and the rest of Europe. In setting out on this path, the Forum seeks to respond to the needs and interests of as wide a section as possible of people in Britain interested in such philosophical dialogue (including those who think of themselves as primarily analytic philosophers) and to encourage links between them. This aim may be served by the organisation of seminars, workshops and conferences under the general auspices of the Forum; these could take place anywhere where members find it possible and appropriate to hold them. The Forum will also seek to foster contacts with European philosophers and to help them to take part in these activities.

The Forum is presently based at the European Institute, London School of Economics, Houghton Street, London, WC2A 2AE, tel. 0171 955 7539, email: euro.forum@lse.ac.uk

The Annual membership Fee is

(1) for Departments: £30

(2) for Individual: £5

If you wish to join, please write to the Treasurer:

Ms Catherine Audard
34 Scarsdale Villas
London
W8 6PR