Contemporary European History

'Contemporary European History is a very promising new journal. It fills a significant gap at a very important time in the development of Europe (and) it concentrates on the right sort of areas.'

The Times Higher Education Supplement

Edited by KATHLEEN BURK,
University College, London and DICK
GEARY, University of Nottingham

Contemporary European History, is an exciting new journal published by Cambridge University Press, offering readers a fresh and innovative approach to twentieth-century European history, in its broadest sense. Encompassing Eastern and Western Europe (including the United Kingdom) in its remit, and covering the period from about 1918 to the present, Contemporary European History achieves both range and depth.

Coverage

Contemporary European History publishes:

- ◆ articles covering major areas of history – political, diplomatic, cultural, social and economic
- ◆ articles covering the smaller as well as the larger European states
- ◆ one issue per year devoted to a topic of central interest to contemporary historians
- ◆ book reviews
- ◆ abstracts in English, French and German
- ◆ a Noticeboard section in each issue, covering diverse areas of interest to all in the historical profession
- ◆ an annual critical survey of the twentieth-century history journals published by a particular European country

International Review of Social History

Editor: Marcel van der Linden,
*Internationaal Instituut voor Sociale
Geschiedenis, Amsterdam*

International Review of Social History, the oldest scholarly journal of its kind, is distinguished for the quality, depth and originality of its articles. It also publishes documents, debates, a major bibliography of social history titles, professional news and an annual supplement of specially commissioned essays on a current topic.

In 1993, the journal expanded its scope by including as an annual Supplement a collection of specially commissioned essays on a major theme. The 1994 Supplement ('Before the unions') will deal with pre-industrial workers' struggles.

Major features

- Research articles (abstracted in English, French, German and Spanish)
- A review section with reviews and review essays on books of international interest
- An analytic, descriptive bibliography giving details of about 400 new books annually
- News of the profession with details of forthcoming conferences, research programmes, etc.
