

Tables

3.1 Framework for governance tools and actions	Pages 45
5.1 Possible governance actions to achieve SDG1 in Latvia	79
5.2 Political importance and conflict: eliminating poverty in Latvia	80
5.3 Possible governance actions to achieve SDG1 in Germany	82
5.4 Political importance and conflict: eliminating poverty in Germany	83
7.1 Possible governance actions to support co-benefits between SDG5 and SDG3	112
7.2 The context of policy and implementation of health and gender co-benefits	123
8.1 Political importance and conflict: the context of policymaking and implementation of reforms to increase health worker salaries	140
8.2 Governance actions and intersectoral structures driving health workforce reforms	143
9.1 Governance actions and intersectoral structures of the HPV vaccine technology transfer	158
9.2 Political importance and conflict: the context of policymaking and implementation of HPV technology transfer	161
9.3 Governance actions and intersectoral structures of SMM South-South collaboration	163
9.4 Political importance and conflict: the context of policymaking and implementation of the SMM	166
10.1 Governance actions and intersectoral structures of the National Health Insurance	179
10.2 Political importance and conflict of NHI in South Africa	181
10.3 Areas of improvement in the Phase 2 implementation	184
10.4 Successes and challenges of NHI Phase 1 interventions	187

11.1	Intersectoral governance framework: the case of JOGG	205
11.2	Political importance and conflict: the case of JOGG	206
11.3	Intersectoral governance framework: the case of the Barcelona Superblocks	209
11.4	Political importance and conflict: the case of the Barcelona Superblocks	210
12.1	Health systems' potential to promote climate change policy	229
12.2	Potential to engage health systems in climate change policy	230
12.3	Intersectoral governance structures in Toronto urban heat islands policies	236
12.4	Political importance and conflict: the context of policymaking and implementation of Toronto urban heat islands policies	237
13.1	The main elements of SDG17	252
13.2	Potential co-benefits from good population health and the health sector for achieving SDG17	256
13.3	Elements of SDG17 in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic	261