International Organization publishes analytical articles, review essays of current literature in the field, brief notes dealing with problems of both theoretical and methodological interest, and comments designed to encourage lively interchanges of views on issues of wide interest.

International Organization particularly welcomes manuscripts that focus on the development and functioning of international agencies or arrangements, including regional arrangements, or on their relationships with the international political and economic environments in which they operate. The journal is also interested in publishing articles on transnational relations and on problems of intergovernmental policy coordination in the absence of international institutions.

The Board of Editors welcomes fresh critical analyses along the foregoing lines. It is not interested in descriptions or chronological treatments of institutions with little assessment and interpretation. Manuscripts should provide original, insightful interpretations and evaluations of significant developments or trends; they should not repeat material familiar and elsewhere available to specialists in international affairs.

All manuscripts should be sent in triplicate to the Editor, Robert Keohane, at the address below. Articles and review essays submitted for consideration should not exceed 45 double-spaced typewritten pages (8½ × 11"). Footnotes must also be double-spaced. Notes on theory and method and comments should not exceed 2,000 words. The style is generally consistent with the University of Chicago Manual of Style.

Decisions on publication are made pursuant to independent critical comment by two or more competent readers. Authors may expect a decision within eight weeks of the Editor's receipt of a manuscript.
