

Christmas Crossword

by Oedipus & Witzelsucht

A Gaskell book and a College mug will be given for the first correctly completed crossword drawn out of a hat. Entries should be sent to Dr Matthew Jelley, Consultant Psychiatrist, Royal United Hospital, Combe Park, Bath BA1 3NG or Dr John Owen, Consultant Psychiatrist, Cossham Hospital, Lodge Hill, Kingswood, Bristol BS15 1LF to arrive not later than 31 January 1995.

The name of the winner and solution to the competition will appear in the April 1995 issue of the Psychiatric Bulletin.

Across

- 1 Person in charge of French cupboard. I have a mental illness (5, 10)
- 7 & 24 Virginia Bottomley with Shakespearian exhortation to all psychiatrists (8, 2, 1, 4, 7)
- 9 Beyond, and inside, foul transvestite (5)
- 10 Drug that sticks in the throat with medical accessory? (6, 3)
- 12 Supergirl takes opiate and Ecstasy (7)
- 13 Endless egoism, for instance (1, 1)
- 14 Deranged ruler fiddling in 26's town (4)
- 16 Barbarian loses head with masturbator (4)
- 17 Egotistical fatigue? (2)
- 19 Manic, perhaps, out of my tree, nearly (7)
- 21 Give virus again, a sort of Hepatitis, without finishing the business (2, 7)
- 23 At the end of an ECT electrode you hear about a town in Italy (5)
- 24 See 7
- 26 Hysterical reaction to the way trumpeter erred, we hear, in town near 23 (2, 5, 8)

Down

- 1 Legal edict concerning mental illness: Slaughter Con Num (15)
- 2 Mild hallucinogen that is able to steal our very being (8)
- 3 Frees from pain, illnesses aren't even starting (5)
- 4 Put back a dislocated joint with a needle point, and then extract again (7)
- 5 & 11 Put in type and prescribe increase (3, 2)
- 6 2 points may make ECT a revolting spectacle: tending to form ions (15)
- 7 Stuff one sado-masochist with doctrine about substance (11)
- 8 Sectioned, maybe, or hung on to around the Royal Edinburgh Hospital (11)
- 11 See 5
- 15 Triumph over phobia is spared a pointless playwright (8)
- 18 Crazy OD scene shows what DNA does (7)
- 20 Midlife breakdown? (2)
- 22 Determine the concentration of a drug - a smooth specimen and yet pointed (5)
- 25 Sunplash: vague clap (1, 1, 1)

Caption competition

---

Readers are invited to provide an appropriate caption for this picture. A Gaskell book will be awarded to the winner.

Entries should be forwarded to Elaine Millen at the Psychiatric Bulletin by the end of December.

Professor Chris Thompson, Registrar, Royal College of Psychiatrists, with friend.

---

Miscellany

---

New publications

Because You Care: a guide to help carers cope with difficult behaviour in people with dementia by Katy Hinchliffe, Senior Registrar and Lecturer, and Dr Gill Livingston, Consultant and Senior Lecturer, the Mental Health Care of Older People Unit at the Whittington Hospital, North London is published by the Mental Health Foundation. Single copies are available free from Charlotte Lloyd, Information Office, Mental Health Foundation, 37 Mortimer Street, London W1N 7RJ.

The Mental Illness Key Area Handbook is available from HMSO, price £15.00.

The 1994/1995 edition of the Association of Medical Research Charities Handbook is available free of charge from the Association of Medical Research Charities, 29–35 Farringdon Road, London EC1M 3JB.

Clinic for tuberous sclerosis sufferers

Tuberous sclerosis is a common multi-system genetic disorder. Symptoms may include epilepsy, learning difficulties, challenging behaviour, autism, a characteristic facial rash, renal problems, and tumours in any organ of the body. The Cambridge Tuberous Sclerosis Clinic was opened on 6 October 1994 and will combine expertise in diagnosis and treatment of both the behavioural problems as well as genetic aspects of the condition. Further information can be obtained from Dr Patrick Bolton, Cambridge Tuberous Sclerosis Clinic, University of Cambridge, Developmental Psychiatry Section, Douglas House, 18b Trumpington Road, Cambridge CB2 2AH (telephone 0223 336098; fax 0223 300609).