LAUNCHED IN JANUARY 2008, the ALI is an innovative, entrepreneurial, cooperative effort to expand the number of books published in literary studies and to increase the audience for them by using common resources available to the five presses through a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. This collaboration will confront the publishing crisis in literature and literary studies, in which the annual number of university press books has declined steeply in recent years, placing younger scholars at a disadvantage when writing their first books.

THE AMERICAN LITERATURES INITIATIVE will create new opportunities for publication in underserved areas of the humanities. Each press will continue to acquire and develop titles according to its own needs and editorial criteria, looking for high-quality first books by promising scholars and seeking out the best scholarly work about English-language literatures of Central and North America and the Caribbean.

The Grace Abbott Reader

GRACE ABBOTT
Edited by John Sorensen with
Judith Sealander

This reader features the most influential and insightful writings of Grace Abbott (1878–1939), a tireless and brilliant social reformer in the early twentieth century. These writings contributed to the development of social programs that safeguarded mothers and children, protected immigrants from abuse, and rescued child laborers from the appalling conditions of the time.
