

International Organization

SPONSORED BY THE WORLD PEACE FOUNDATION AND THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

The United Nations publishes compendia of statistics comprising a unique storehouse of world information furnished by countries, and including estimates by experts. For governments, businesses, universities, libraries and others these are ready and useful references for studying markets and social, demographic and economic developments throughout the world.

Demographic Yearbook 1971

International demographic statistics for over 250 countries and territories on population trends, marriages, divorces, births, deaths, expectation of life, infant mortality, age distributions, population of cities, literacy, abortions.

Order No. E/F.72.XIII.1

Clothbound $28.00

Statistical Yearbook 1972

Covers a wide range of subjects, including: population, agriculture, manufacturing, construction, transport, trade, balance of payments, education and culture. Improved statistical coverage has enabled the Yearbook to provide more comprehensive country, world and continental aggregates.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

International Organization, the principal scholarly periodical in its field, publishes analytical articles, review essays of current literature in the field, brief notes dealing with problems of both theoretical and methodological interest, and comments designed to encourage lively interchanges of views on issues of wide interest, public policy, and previously published articles, review essays, notes, and comments.

Manuscripts submitted for publication should focus primarily on the development, functioning, or political factors associated with international agencies and regional arrangements, or on their dynamic relationships with the international political and economic environments in which they operate. We are particularly interested in articles that focus on the efforts of states, international organizations, and other transnational actors to cope with an increasing range of interdependencies.

The Board of Editors welcomes fresh critical analyses along the foregoing lines. It is not interested in descriptions or chronological treatments of institutions with little assessment and interpretation. Manuscripts should provide original, insightful interpretations and evaluations of significant developments or trends; they should not repeat material familiar and elsewhere available to specialists in international affairs.

All manuscripts should be sent in triplicate to the Editor, David A. Kay, at the address below. Articles and review essays submitted for consideration should not exceed 35 double-spaced typewritten pages (8½" x 11"). Notes on theory and method and comments should not exceed 2,000 words. The style should be consistent with the University of Chicago Manual of Style.

Decisions on publication are made pursuant to independent critical comment by three or more competent readers including the Editor. Authors may expect a decision within six weeks of the Editor's receipt of a manuscript.
