

COMING IN THE WINTER ISSUE OF THE QUARTERLY

EDUCATION IN THE SOUTH

Colleges in the Revolutionary South: The Shaping of a Tradition,
by Robert Polk Thomson

Southern Values and Public Education: A Revision, by Irving
Gershenberg

John H. Finley at CCNY—1903-1913, by Marvin E. Gettleman

Americanization as an Early Twentieth-Century Adult Education
Movement, by Robert A. Carlson

ESSAY REVIEWS

Brave Words, Small Deeds: Education in Modern France, by David
A. Harnett

Literacy and Social Structure, by Daniel F. McCall

The Medieval University, by Gordon Leff

Education in Victorian England, by John F. C. Harrison

NEW— uniquely relating theory and practice
in the history of American education.

THEORY AND PRACTICE
IN THE HISTORY OF AMERICAN EDUCATION:
A Book of Readings

Edited by James W. Hillesheim, University of Kansas
George D. Merrill, El Camino College

A new readings book giving equal weight to theory and practice, demonstrating their relationship through cross referencing. From John Locke to John Dewey to the Supreme Court's decision on equal opportunity, this complete view of American education is presented in a fascinating and unique manner.

January 1971 est. 416 pp. $9.95 (87620-895-2)

for approval copies, write:
Goodyear Publishing Co. 15115 Sunset Blvd. Pacific Palisades, Calif. 90272

NEW! TEXTS in Education
ALLYN and BACON, Inc.

NEW 1970!

WHAT HAPPENED IN EDUCATION:

An Introduction to Western Educational History

T. D. Burrige, McGill University

A brief introduction to Western Educational History, this new text suggests connections between what has happened in Education and the issues that confront us today. The superior writing style and lively mind of the author make this text unique. Subjective rather than objective the views expressed are meant to be challenged. 1970 5½ x 8¾ 146 pp.

NEW 1970!

A HISTORY OF PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTING

Philip H. DuBois, Washington University

Beginning with civil service tests in ancient China and oral examinations in medieval European universities, this book traces the development of psychological and educational tests to the present day. The text introduces the reader to procedures and problems in the measurement of intelligence, special aptitudes, proficiency, interests, and personality characteristics. 1970 6 x 9 192 pp.

EDUCATIONAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL THOUGHT, Second Edition

Kingsley Price, University of California 6 x 9 605 pp.

Allyn and Bacon, Inc. College Div. Dept. 893
470 Atlantic Ave. Boston, Mass. 02210

