

Note from the Editor-in-Chief

IGOR GRANT

With the issue number 5, we are pleased to inaugurate what we hope will become a stimulating regular scholarly feature of JINS—the symposia series. We intend symposia to comprise state-of-the-art research contributions by leaders in rapidly evolving areas of neuropsychological endeavor. By providing a thematically linked set of papers we hope to create a critical mass of information on interesting topics to challenge our readers. My particular thanks go to Laird Cermak for organizing a wonderful symposium and to all contributors for the outstanding quality of their papers.
