

EDITORIAL NOTE

Reference:

Mateusz Stróżyński (2024) ‘‘CRITICAL ANCIENT WORLD STUDIES’ - (M.) Umachandran, (M.) Ward (edd.) Critical Ancient World Studies. The Case for Forgetting Classics. Pp. xvi + 268, ills. London and New York: Routledge, 2024. Paper, £35.99. ISBN: 978-1-032-12011-9. Open access’. The Classical Review, doi: 10.1017/S0009840X24000507, Published by Cambridge University Press 10 May 2024

On page 652 of the above review it states:

In her biographical note (p. xiii) Ward writes that she has dedicated her life at the university not so much to research as to opposing ‘inequalities, inequities and biases that structure access to higher education’.

This quote is excerpted from Ward’s biographical note, which reads in full:

‘she split her time equally between postdoctoral research in classical reception and work to oppose the inequalities, inequities and biases that structure access to higher education’.