

Editors' Introduction

The expansion of Law and History Review provides the necessary pages to review sixty-five to seventy books per year. In addition, we are now able to review more non-English language books and occasionally offer multiple reviews of a monograph or important edited collection. Finally, we plan to commission longer field review essays.

Alfred L. Brophy
University of North Carolina

Amalia D. Kessler
Stanford University