

---

Foreign Devils on the Silk Road

The Search for the Lost Cities and Treasures of Chinese Central Asia

Peter Hopkirk

Reviled in China but revered in the West. Such is the fate of those foreign explorers who, early this century, rediscovered the lost cities of the Silk Road and carried off their art treasures. Here, told for the first time, is the story of this strange and contentious episode in Central Asian history.

0 19 281487 7 Illustrated £3.50 Oxford Paperbacks

A Study of Siva in Dance, Myth, and Iconography

Anne-Marie Gaston

This detailed, scholarly study begins with a brief historical survey of dance in India and its secular and religious functions, and the author continues with a discussion of how changing social mores have affected both Bharata Natyam and the status of the dancer in the twentieth century. The body of the work consists of a comprehensive classification of Nataraja as he is depicted in sculpture and dance, according to the foot and hand positions shown at different periods in the four different regions of India.

0 19 561354 6 Illustrated with 400 halftones £22.50

The Thomson Paintings

Mid-19th-Century Paintings of the Straits
Settlements and Malaya

John Hall-Jones

The Thomson Paintings represents a selection from the collection of paintings of J. T. Thomson, government surveyor to the British Colonial Administration of Singapore from 1841 to 1851.

0 19 582566 7 Illustrated with colour plates and halftones £35

Ladakh: Crossroads of High Asia

Janet Rizvi

This is an excellent introduction to Ladakh, discussing its history, its landscape, peoples, the quality of life, art, architecture and social institutions. Two important appendices contain a study of Jesuit influence in Ladakh in the 17th century and information for tourists. A select bibliography offers the interested reader guidelines for further reading.

0 19 561506 9 Illustrated in colour and monochrome £15

Oxford University Press

---

---

Competitive Edge

The Semiconductor Industry in the U.S. and Japan

Edited by Daniel I. Okimoto, Takuo Sugano & Franklin B. Weinstein. An in-depth analysis of industrial competition in high technology between the world's two largest market economies, centering on the crucial issue of Japan's emergence as a force in semiconductor production and the challenge it poses to U.S. supremacy in the field. $27.50

Seeds of Destruction

Nationalist China in War and Revolution, 1937-1949

Lloyd E. Eastman. Who lost China? Based on a wide array of hitherto unused documentary sources, including the records and memoirs of the Nationalists themselves, this study delves deeply into the inner workings of the Nationalist regime, documents its weaknesses, and analyzes several key factors in its ultimate defeat. $32.50

Germany and Republican China

William C. Kirby. This first full account of the mutually profitable relationship that existed between Germany and China from 1928 to 1938 stresses Germany's influence on Nationalist economic, military, and ideological development, including the appeal of German fascist ideas and techniques to the Nationalist leaders. $35.00

The Critique of Ultra-Leftism in China, 1958-1981

William A. Joseph. This book analyzes three efforts to exorcise the influence of radical Maoist policies and ideologies—the retreat from the Great Leap Forward, the campaign against “Swindlers like Liu Shaoqi”, and the criticism of the Gang of Four—and considers the effect of these campaigns on China's modern political system. $35.00

Hankow

Commerce and Society in a Chinese City, 1796-1889

William T. Rowe. Challenging accepted assumptions about the “backwardness” of the Chinese city, this study portrays Hankow as the hub of an empire-wide marketing system spanning thousands of miles and involving scores of commodities, and as a focal point of the indigenous developments leading toward later industrial and political revolutions. $39.50

Stanford University Press

---

St Antony's Middle East Monographs

- 5 British Policy in Mesopotamia 1903–1914 by Stuart Cohen £9.50
- 6 Imperial Quest for Oil: Iraq 1910–1928 by Helmut Mejcher £9.50
- 8 Iran: Monarchy, Bureaucracy & Reform under the Qajars: 1858–1896 by Shaul Bakhash £11.50
- 9 Party politics in Egypt: the Wafd & its rivals 1919–38 by Marius Deeb £11.50
- 10 Bureaucracy & Politics in contemporary Egypt by Nazih Ayubi £12.50
- 11 British Policy towards Syria and Palestine 1906–14 by Rashid Khalidi £12.50
- 12 Traditional & English & American Influence in Arabic Romantic Poetry by Muhammad Abdul-Hai £12.50
- 13 Form and Technique in the Egyptian Novel 1912–1971 by Ali Jad £12.50
- 14 Egypt for the Egyptians! The socio-political crisis in Egypt 1878–1882 by Alexander Schölch £14.50
- 15 Sidi Ameer—A Tunisian Village by Nadia Abu Zahra £11.50
- 16 An Introduction to Shi'i Law: a bibliographical study by Hossein Modarressi Tabataba'i £18.00

Oxford Oriental Institute Monographs

- 1 The Legend of Miao-shan by Glen Dudbridge £7.50
- 2 Persian Metal Technology 700–1300 AD by J. W. Allan £12.50
- 3 The Reform of Fiction in Meiji Japan by Peter F. Kornicki £10.50
- 4 The Tale of Li Wa study and critical edition of a Chinese story from the ninth century by Glen Dudbridge £12.50
- 5 Cities & Trade: Consul Abbott on the Economy and Society of Iran 1847–1866 edited and introduced by Abbas Amanat £14.50
- 6 Modern Arabic Literature and the West by Mustafa Badawi NYP
- 7 Taoist books in the libraries of the Sung period: a critical study and index by Piet van der Loon £15.00
- 8 The Mufti of Istanbul: a study in the development of the Ottoman learned hierarchy by Richard Repp NYP

from bookshops or by mail: please enclose cheque, adding £0.70 or US $3.00 per order:

write for our full list of books on the Middle East

Ithaca Press 13 Southwark Street London SE1

A Course in Nepali

David Matthews

Dr. Matthews' Nepali course presents a full description of both the spoken and written forms of modern standard Nepali, and will enable the student to understand, speak and read most types of Nepali he or she is likely to encounter. The earlier lessons concentrate mainly on the spoken style, and the conversation passages contain material which will prove useful for those who are about to travel in Nepal, as one usually does, on foot! The reading passages in the later lessons concern religious, political and literary topics, and will enable those who wish to read more widely in Nepali to do so without much difficulty.

The Nepali script has been employed throughout the course, and the spelling is consistent throughout. However the most commonly encountered orthographical and dialectal variants have been pointed out at various stages in the course.

The introductory chapter deals with the pronunciation of Nepali and the script used for writing the language. Each lesson consists of a discussion of the grammar and the words required for tackling the reading passages and exercises which follow. The course covers the whole grammar and all the constructions of modern Nepali, and introduces most of the spoken and written styles of the language. It concludes with a Nepali-English vocabulary.

1984 348 pages

Paper covers £16.00

SCHOOL OF ORIENTAL AND AFRICAN STUDIES

Malet Street, London WC1E 7HP, England