A major history of America's political parties from the Founding to our embittered present

How undetonated bombs from a war that ended more than fifty years ago still affect Cambodian farmers and their land

How elites shape the use of force in American foreign policy

How local contexts help us understand why White voters in America's heartland are shifting to the right

How we can repair our democracy by rebuilding the mechanisms that power it

Why it's time to enshrine the right to vote in the Constitution

REVISED AND UPDATED

Why has the office of Prime Minister endured longer than any other democratic political office?

Sir Anthony Seldon, historian of Number 10 Downing Street, explores the intimate details and experiences of our PMs – including the recent churn of Johnson, Truss and Sunak – discussing who has been most effective and why.

TEACHING POLITICAL SCIENCE MATTERS

2025

Join us for the 17th American Political Science Association's Teaching & Learning Conference

FEBRUARY 7-9, 2025 | ALEXANDRIA, VA

Join political science teacher-scholars for the American Political Science Association's Teaching & Learning Conference (TLC), February 7-9, 2025, in Alexandria, Virginia! The APSA TLC is a unique meeting to promote greater understanding of high-impact practices and innovative methodologies for the political science classroom.

We invite political science teacher-scholars to explore the conference theme, "Teaching Political Science Matters," at the Westin Alexandria Old Town. The conference provides a forum for scholars to participate in the scholarship of teaching and learning, share pedagogical techniques, and discuss trends in political science education.
