Weed Technology Checklist for New Submissions

All new submissions to Weed Technology must meet the following minimum formatting requirements. Upon revision, manuscripts should be formatted as described in the Instructions for Authors.

- Include full author names on the first page of the manuscript. The names (and order) on the manuscript must match the author list entered in Editorial Manager.
- Refer to plant species by their common names throughout, with the Latin name given only in the Nomenclature section (if first mention is in the abstract) or at first mention in the text (if the species is not included in the abstract/Nomenclature section). Include the authority at first mention of Latin names.
- The entire manuscript should be double spaced and include line numbers.
- The Results and Discussion should be combined; do not include a separate conclusions section.
- Conflict of interest and funding statements should be included in the Acknowledgments section.
- The reference formatting must follow the style outlined in the Instructions for Authors under "References."
